A 1-Second Delay In Load Time Can Lead To

A 7% LOSS IN CONVERSIONS,
11% FEWER PAGE VIEWS, AND A
16% DECREASE IN CUSTOMER
SATISFACTION

Ever heard of the 15-second rule? Being a website business owner if you do not generate interest in 15 seconds, then you probably aren't going to. Voila! Your visitor is no more your client, and don't be surprised if you learn that your slow & laggy website was the prime pretext of your visitor to switch to another website.

Smart website owners like yourself must understand the importance of your website's quick response & delivery time. You got less than 15 seconds to present your website visitor with the information they need. If they don't get it quickly, you don't get the client because your website visitor has already moved on to another website. Do you follow?

Website speed and performance are important aspects of the user experience. You're likely to lose your search engine rankings and see high bounce rates if your website does not provide a good user experience. You must not overlook this, or you risk losing out on some serious organic traffic and subsequent conversions.
